Talcott Urges Tax Relief For Small Businesses

Congressman Burt L. Talcott has introduced a bill, H. R. 9459, to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 to provide income tax simplification, reform and relief for small businesses.

Citing the need for this legislation Talcott said, "Tax relief for small businesses is long overdue. The small business community was bypassed in the 1969 Tax Reform Act even though small business firms represent 98 percent of all business firms and contribute at least 40 percent of all jobs and are responsible for one-third of this Nation's gross national product.

Talcott explained that his bill recommends 40 substantive and administrative tax law changes. The major proposals are:

*Simplification of tax laws and regulations through a permanent intergovernmental committee working with a businessman's advisory council and an office of small business tax analysis at the Treasury Department to view tax proposals from a small business-free enterprise standpoint.

* A graduated corporate income tax, shifting about one percent of corporate revenue from the smallest to the largest corporations on an ability-to-pay principle.

* A three-year Federal tax exemption for new industrial-commercial small business.

*limited reinstatement of the investment tax credit, scaled down to $50,000 of qualified investment for manufacturing corporations, $10,000 for other corporations and $5,000 for individuals.

* Additional first-year depreciation for small firms, as weel as retroactive elimination of the reserve ratio test for small businesses and statutory status for depreciation guidelines.

*Reform of several sections to strengthen small business' ability to attract venture capital.

*Greater freedom for growing businesses to accumulate income for expansion purposes.

*Liberalization of Subchapter S and some partnership rules.

* Provisions for a limited number of surtax exemptions for family businesses.

*Relief for State and local development companies.

*Tighter control of interest deductions to discourage merger and buyouts of independent businesses.

Stressing the fact that tax simplification is an essential form of tax relief, Talcott expressed the hope that "favorable action will be taken on this legislation during this session of the Congress."

Loan Means More Service For Presidio

Hart's Refuse Collection Company, located in Seaside, California, has been awarded a contract in the amount of $88,141.75 by the Small Business Administration.

The contract will provide the U.S. Army, Fort Ord, with refuse collection services at the Presidio of Monterey and Fort Ord housing areas.

In making the announcement, SBA Regional Director Donald McLarnan said the SBA is authorized to enter into contracts with other Federal agencies for goods and services and then award these contracts to small firms to do the work. This aid is provided to firms owned by disadvantaged persons that need a helping hand to expand or to firms just getting started.

Near Record For Permits

Building permits for nearly $4.2 million were issued by the City of Seaside Building Department during fiscal year 1970-71, according to George G. Machado, the city's chief building inspector.

Of the 373 permits issued by the department, more than half dealt with the Hannon and Del Monte Heights Redevelopment areas. Valuation for the projects in those areas was set at $2.7 million.

The figures for this fiscal year established a near-record high for project valuation. It is slightly under the record $4.7 million established during the 1968-69 fiscal year.

Chairman Is Named

The Downtown Monterey Council has a new Trade Promotion Chairman.

Mike Marotta has been appointed to the chairmanship of this committee which has the responsibility to develop retail promotional events in the downtown area.

James Mangin, chairman of the Downtown Monterey Council, made the announcement.

Most Schools Reopen on September 7

Monterey County's more 60,000 elementary, secondary and community college public school students are in the midst of summer jobs, family outings, summer play and generala fun which must inevitably end with fall and resumption of school.

For most of these students, according to Dr. Ray Charlson, Monterey County Schools Superintendent, that cessation of holiday frivolities comes on September 7 when 23 of the county's 27 public school districts reopen.

Exceptions to the September 7 reopening date are the Carmel Unified School District, Harnell College, Pacific Grove Unified School District and San Antonio Unified School District. They will reopen on September 13.

Schools to Observe M.L. King Day

The Board of Education in first session for the 1971-72 school term on July 6, 1971, adopted a resolution to annually observe the date of April 4 as the anniversary of the death of Martin Luther King, Jr.

Some discussion was held as to the extent of observance that would be specified to the schools. Board member George Gividen noted that we "cannot feasibly hold assemblies or demand written compositions for every important American patriot who has died or school time would invariably be utilized for little else."

It was decided that each school should decide the extent of observation for that date.

Recall Is Official

The Seaside recall election results are finally official.

Following a recount of the ballots, the original results were verified.

Three of the incumbants--General McGrath, Oliver Murray and Pearl Carey--lost their city council seats. Only Steve Ross retained his position on the council.

Birth Control Information Is Available

The Family Planning Program through the Community Aides brings accurate information on modern methods of birth control as well as available birth control facilities and services to the low-income populations of Monterey County.

The aides will also provide transportation and/or child care at times when clinic appointments require such services.

The Family Planning Program maintains a contact, referral and follow-up service in cooperation with other Community agencies to provide counselling, guidance, and practical solutions to the special problems associated with birth control and unwanted pregnancies. The special problems which the programs has identified and focused upon in Monterey County are the sexually active teenager, the unwed mother and the unwanted pregnancy.

The Family Planning Program and the aides do not advise, make decisions for or tell people that they should, ought or must choose birth control or any specific method.

Monterey County Anti-Poverty Coordinating Council, Family Planning Clinics are being established in Seaside, Castroville, and South County. Free cancer and pregnancy tests have been added to the services. Give them a call if they can be of service.

For information, in Seaside call 373-4555, Monday through Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 12 a.m. The office is located at 1123 Fremont Boulevard, Suite B. In Monterey, Call 375-6332. In Salinas, call 424-0091, extension 3 or 10, Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Wood Says State Needs Must Be Met

Assemblyman Bob Wood stated recently that once the budget has been approved by the Legislature and placed on the Governor's desk, it is the Governor's responsibility to make any budget cuts.

"I feel, however," Wood said, "that it is the Legislature's responsibility to attempt to see that the needs of the State are still met without creating an adverse effect on the Governor's desire not to increase taxes.

Wood pointed out that there has been a difference of opinion among the counties as to the affect of the Governor's cuts on the tax load of the counties themselves. "I have nothing but the highest respect for the Monterey County Board of Supervisors and their administrator, Ed McCauley," Wood stated, "and I will defer to their judgment as to the effect of these cuts."

If the Governor's welfare reform program is not approved by the Legislature, which includes a provision preventing any added expense to the county property taxpayer, a heavier load on the Monterey County taxpayer could result because of the state mandated programs.."If this should happen," the Monterey County Assemblyman said, "it would be necessary to restore this money and have a statewide tax increase, rather than passing the tax increase to the already over-taxed property taxpayers."

Wood also said that the question of educational finance has become of great interest. The elimination of $100 million, in local school district support puts the schools under more pressure to either seek more efficient use of their money or a local tax override.

One other area that has created some concern and controversy is the subject of cost of living pay increase for state employees. Most county employees received cost of living increases from 2-1/2 to 5 percent this last fiscal year. The Governor eliminated from the State budget the pay increase for state employees, although the Legislature approved it almost unanimously.

Marina Girl Wins Award

A Seaside High sophomore left recently for a one week tour of Naval lavoratories and other Naval facilities in San Diego. The trip includes a day cruise aboard a Navy ship.

Margaret Price, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Price, 3007 Ellen Court, Marina, received the trip for her winning entry in the Tri-County Science fair held in Monterey, last March.

Her "Study of the Diversification Among Chordate Hearts" displayed the different hearts of fish, amphibians and mammals, through graphics and a disected view of a frog and calf heart. For this, Margaret received the Navy Science Cruiser Award of which the trip is a part.

The Navy Science Cruiser Program is the outgrowth of the Navy's continuing interest in the youth of America and in scientific achievement everywhere. The intent is to encourage outstanding high school students whose scientific projects are of potential interest to one of the many activities of the Naval establishment.

Del Rey Reopens

The Del Rey Theater, Seaside's long-deserted movie house, reopened its doors recently after being closed for five years.

The theater, located at the corner of Fremont and Broadway, plans to feature a broad selection of films. A children's series and a film festival are tentatively scheduled for the future.

Following the policy of Associated Cinemas Company, which operates the theater, tickets will be 50 cents on Monday through Thursday, while on weekends all seats will be 75 cents. Associated Cinemas runs theaters in the San Francisco Bay Area with the same reduced prices.

"We're doing this because we are trying to bring people back to the theaters," explained AC's vice-president Bill Foster.

Manager of the Del Rey will be Tom Sanders. He is the first black manager in the Associated chain, as well as the first black theater manager on the Monterey Peninsula.

Sanders started as a janitor in another chain-- the Crescent Theaters,-- six years ago. He began his rise to manager three years later when the manager of the theater he worked in taught him how to operate the projectors.

Assistant manager of the Del Rey is Otis Stevenson. A local man who is also black, he is being taught the theater business by Sanders.

As Associated leases other theaters in the area, Sanders will move up to the area directorship and Stevenson will become manager of the Del Rey.

Sanders hopes that this venture will be a success and stresses that "it depends on the community as a whole if we are to have something here."

Previews of coming attractions may be obtained by calling 394-1631.

Taxes Are Distrbuted

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy has announced the distribution of $5,366,420 to counties and cities as the June apportionment of cigarette tax.

Monterey County received $7,058.99 and Seaside got $7,084.70. The 58 counties' share was $1,022,573 and the cities' share totaled $4,343,847.

This distribution represents 30 percent of the revenue deposited in the Cigarette Tax Fund during the month of May 1971, less the State's administrative costs of $23,163.

NYC Gets More Funds

Funding for an additional 331 enrollees has been awarded the Monterey County Neighborhood Youth Corps Summer Program.

According to John Peshkoff, NYC Coordinator for the Monterey County Office of Education, the additional job opportunities are available to youths from low income families who intend to return to school in the fall.

Peshkoff noted that the U.S. Department of Labor, which administers the NYC nationally, is placing emphasis on helping young people who are currently in school and need financial and counseling assistance to graduate.

In addition, NYC has a program this summer Gavilan, MPC and Hartnell College. The purpose of these programs is to see that 200 young people have an experience of attending college, getting paid while they are there and having the necessary guidance and tutoring to get through the program successfully.

Young people interested in enrolling in the program should contact the NYC Office at the Monterey County Office of Education, Phone 424--655 or 373-2955.

Interest on Savings Increases

Bank of America has announced it will raise its interest rate paid on regular passbook savings to 4 1/2 percent from 4 percent effective August 1.

At the same time, the bank said it is increasing its prime rate on commercial loans to 6 percent from 5 1/2 percent and its home mortgage rate to 7 3/4 percent from 7 -1/2 percent, both effective immediately.

In announcing the changes, President A.W. Clausen said of the bank's increases in the savings rate:

"We are pleased to offer this higher rate to depositors at this early opportunity. We want to provide the highest returns to our depositors permitted by market conditions."

As for the bank's action on loan rate, Clausen called the move "inevitable in light of increasing loan demand and upward forces in the money markets."

Clausen added that the bank's decision to increase its passbook savings rate was influenced by the recently rising trends in mortgage loan rates and the continued upward path of the prime rate.

We took a run over to San Juan Bautista last Sunday to attend the annual Fiesta and Rodeo. In our party were my wife, Jean and son, Robert. Accompanying us were my oldest son, Mike, his beautiful wife, Roxana and, of course, the light of my life, my 20-month old grand son, Yul. Without any of the festiveness and gaiety of the Fiesta, just spending an entire day outdoors with one's grandson is reward enough. Yul didn't cry once except when his dad tried to stop him from running. He seemed to be studying every face and just enjoyed being with a large group of people. I guess most of us enjoy being with large groups of people, especially when there is laughter and fun.

The day long fiesta and rodeo started with a parade made up mostly of local groups. There were a number of floats with the usual beautiful queens adorning them. Thousands of people from all over California are drawn each year to the Mission of San Juan Bautista, which is the largest mission in California and where most of the activity is held. The proceeds from the event are used to maintain the Mission.

Literally hundreds of the townspeople from small children to old grandfathers-pitch in to help man the various booths, serve the delicious barbecue, and of course, to clean up after the crowd goes home. I watched the men,

During day's activities, growers were joined for lunch in Senator Hotel by Grunsky, Assemblymen Bob Wood of Greenfield and Frank Murphy, Jr. of Santa Cruz.

Tartuffe To Be Presented

"Tartuffe," a 17th century French comedy by Moliere, will be staged in the Monterey Peninsula College Theater July 29 through 31 and August 5 through 7, Nick Zanides, MPC summer session instructor of classes in acting and play production, has announced.

The play was summed up by its author as "A satire on religious hypocrisy," according to Richard Wilbur, whose English translation Zanides is using.

"But," Wilbur writes, "several modern critics have argued (it) is not a satire but a 'deep' comedy in which (1) a knave tries to control life by cold chicanery, (2) a fool tries to oppress life by unconscious misuse of the higher values and (3) life, happily, will not have it."

Cast as Orgon, a "rich bourgeois of middle age. . . who has adopted extreme religious severity," is James Goffard, a veteran of many Circle Theater productions ("Madwoman of Chaillot," "Waltz of the Toreadors" and "See How They Run," among others). He also appeared in MPC's "Death of a Salesman" last summer.

Appearing as Tartuffe, "a wily opportunist," is David McCharen, who was "J.B." in the MPC production of the McLeish play and a member of MPC's "West Side Story" cast.

Other roles are played by Michael Neilond, a former Georgetown University student who has acted in plays in the Washington, D.C. area and for the American Repertory Theater in Beirut; Loren Boddy, who was in "J.B." and "The Apple Tree" at MPC and now manages the bookstore at the Montery Institute of Foreign Studies; Michael Roberts, a theater design major at the California Institue of the Arts who was active in the Children's Experimental Theater for five years and wrote and directed a play produced at Pacific Grove High School; Barbara Shuler, who played Sarah in "J.B." and worked in Children's Theater productions for ten years; Charles Poulos, a 1970 MPC graduate who acted in several MPC productions before transferring to Chico State College; James E. Thomas, who appeared in plays at the Berlin American High School and Santa Ana College.

Birth Films To Be Shown

Two films, "Childbirth for the Joy of It" and the Miller film on prepared childbirth, will be shown free of charge at the Monterey Public Library tomorrow (Friday) at 8 p.m.

Both films show couples preparing themselves, intellectually and physically for the birth of their children. The actual deliveries are shown.

The film showing is presented by the Childbirth Education League.

Following the films, there will be a discussion session guided by instructors and members of the League.

The Childbirth Education League sponsors prenatal classes stressing "prepared childbirth." Their belief is that the pain and discomfort attributed to childbirth are generally the result of fear and tension which in turn are the results of ignorance and misinformation.

The CEL classes offer information, exercises and encouragement which prepare the couple for a dignified and unique experience. A fee is charged for the eight week course and advanced registration is necessary during the 4th or 5th month of pregnancy.

Questions about the films or prenatal classes can be directed to Mrs. Tobey Schwartz at 659-4541 or Mrs. Jennifer Ross at 372-5535.

Flutist At MPC Concet

Julius Baker, solo flutist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra and Martha Reatick, pianist, will appear together in concert Sunday, July 25, at 8 p.m. in the Monterey Peninsula College music hall.

From July 25 to 30, Baker will teach a master class at the Asilomar Conference Grounds. For information on the class, interested persons may phone Fabrizio at 375-9821 or 659-4980.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased at the MPC community services office and at the door.

Church Services

Why the works as well as the words of Christ Jesus can mean so much to people will be discussed at Christian Science church services on the Monterey Peninsula Sunday in a Lesson-Sermonen- titled "Life." Services, which will be held at the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Monterey begin at 10:30 a.m. The public is invited.

The healing of the nobleman's son will be included in the Bible reading. The account concludes with these words: "So the father knew that it was at the same hour, in the which Jesus said unto him, Thy son liveth: and himself believed, and his whole house."

One of the citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Jesus established what he said by demonstration, thus making his acts of higher importance than his words. He proved what he taught."

The wind and sandy soils prevail here in Seaside. There are three plants that grow well with very little care.

First is the Fan Palm. The leaves are dark green in color and have interestingly long segments. Each leaf is split into three individual fans. As pretty as this palm is, it should be used more. It grows to twelve feet in height.

Carmel Ceanothus also grow especially well in this area. This is the California Lilac and is very rapid growing. It grows in a mound and has violet-blue flowers in March and April. It may grow into a spreading cushion shape to four feet or it may become more upright and taller. Spectacular in bloom, it will not stand severe pruning. It also needs a well-drained soil.

Escallonia Macrantha is a fast grower here in Seaside It will grow almost any place- in sun, half shade, wind, drought and on the sea coast. It has a crimson flower intermitent and blooms throughout the year.

It is a good flowering, untrimmed hedge or background plant and grows from six to ten feet. It is ofter sold as Escallonia rubra, but done so incorrectly.

women and children hard at work making sure everyone got served and waited on. They did it without any pay- as if they were enjoying themselves just as much as the visitors and guests. Their only wages were the sheer enjoyment of being able to make someone else happy.

We ran into this same kind of warm hospitality the previous weekend, the Fourth of July, when we took a drive down to Pismo Beach following the Strawberry Festival. Here again the local women were manning the booths, displaying their best paintings and serving up strawberry shortcake and strawberry pie. Both were delicious.

These women had unselfishly given up their weekend to entertain their out-of-town guests in order to raise money for their local art group. Weeks of preparation must go into these activities so that they come off smoothly when the day arrives. There is also the anguish and worry of the organizing group who hope that, at the last minute, they haven't forgotten anything. On Sunday, July 4, we went to Avila Beach for some sun and fun. There was lots of sun and lots of ocean, but the water was too cold to go in beyond your toes. The local civic association held a fun-raising chicken barbecue there that day. They served hundreds of guests delicious chicken, which was done just right, with beans, salad and the usual french bread. Here again we saw these loyal, faithful men and women working from early morning to late night. Many of them were barefoot by late afternoon because their feet hurt, but they were still smiling and laughing through it all. True it is usually only a few who turn out and participate,but in the case of San Juan Bautista, the few added up to hundreds of volunteers.

In the case of our own Fourth of July Parade, it took quite a few volunteers to organize and police the line of march. There was also the organizations that held the barbecue and sold peanuts along the line of march. These people enjoyed making the parade guests happy. The marchers and participants in the parade all seemed to enjoy their efforts. In many cases, these people travel hundreds of miles and march another hundred by the time they have appeared in many weekend parades held throughout California. And they do this without pay, just to bring joy to some children and grown-ups.

What is it about humans which makes them want to make other people happy? It is because we instinctivly know that the more love we give, the more we will receive? It is because we know deep down inside that we are our brother's keeper? It is because we like to feel the warmth of other people around us, to wrap ourselves in the warmth of their happiness and grateful smiles of thanks? It is all of these things and more?

We are born on this earth to give and receive love. Selfishness and greed are by-products of our struggle for survival. They seem to be a natural part of our nature, but they are not. They are put there by the fear of not being able to survive. Love and happiness are a part of our nature. That is why they come so easily to us especially when we feel the warm feeling we get when we are making someone else happy. Just watch the love-light in another person's eyes when they are serving and trying to make you happy. You will see the "pay" that all of those volunteers receive for the hard work they put out. It's worth more than all of the money in the world.

Questions and Answers

Q.: I am 20 years old, and going to college under the War Orphans Educational Assistance Program. I earned $800 last year, and wonder if that will prevent me from receiving benefits?

A.: No. There is no limit on your earned income.

Q.: I am attending the university under the G.I. Bill, and my wife and I are expecting a child later this year. Will I receive extra benefits for the child from the date of birth or only from the date I inform the VA?

A.: You must inform the VA of the child's birth by submitting a copy of the birth certificate within one year from the child's birth. Then you will be paid from the date of birth.

Q.: My wife is the principle beneficiary on my National Service Life Insurance Policy with a lump sum settlement. If both of us were fatally injured in a car accident, but she survived me by even a few minutes, how would the proceeds of the policy be handled? How could expensive probate proceedings be eliminated?

A.: If your wife survived you, whe becomes the beneficiary under the policy. The VA must pay the proceeds to her estate, and not to the contingent beneficiaries that you may have specivied. Probate could be avoided through the use of the "Common Disaster Clause," available on request at the time the policy is issued and payment of icy is issued, or later. This provides for a time lapse between the death of the insured and payment of the proceeds to the principal beneficiary. Thus, if the beneficiary fails to survive after the specified period, payment of NSLI proceeds will be made as if the principle beneficiary had died before the insured.

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

I am sure he didn't mean to hurt me. For many months we had been friends. He and his wife have a little neighborhood restaurant and over a cup of coffee we would discuss anything from baseball to moon flights and, in a friendly way, we would agree or not agree.

But this morning, while talking about the lowering of the voting age I said I had hope that 25 million new voters next year would take enough interest to vote to change our disastrous policies, which means changing the administration, because the administration is not about to change.

Up until then it had been a beautiful morning, warm and sunny, and then this guy I thought was my friend said, "No chance. When these kids vote they will vote pretty much the same way their parents voted. The ones we have been hearing the most from are in the minority and probably won't even vote."

Well, that shot my day, but he was probably right, on at least two counts. (1) About the time a person has a right to vote he is at long last becoming not just an onlooker and concerned critic, but a part of the "establishment", whether he believes in it or not, and must face the hard fact that to some extent at least, what is good for the establishment is good for him. His job, his income, etcetera, depend on him "going along", and his youthful idealistic values begin to succumb to material values.

Second, it would be a complete reversal of the present universal deterioration of our society for such a sizeable segment of our population to exert itself that much just to save itself.

So, twenty years from now Hubert Humphrey will still be completely in the dark about what is going on and still running faithfully for the Presidency. Failures before they start, like Muskie and opportunists, like McGovern, will still be furnishing no alternatives, while an occasional candidate like McCloskey with the courage to risk political suicide in trying to save his country won't be taken seriously enough to have a chance.

About a month ago I wrote to our own Congressman Burt Talcott, asking him to support Rep. McCloskey, pointing out that although McCloskey had little experience as a President he was honest and that a little honesty might go a long way toward making up for lack of experience. I am certain, at least I have no reason to believe otherwise, that Mr. Talcott is also honest, yet he keeps on voting appropriations to continue the war in Asia, while publicly deploring the war.

In Rep. Talcott's reply to my letter, in addition to a couple remarks about Rep. McCloskey he stated, "With our negotiations concerning total withdrawal, our POW's are hostages for reparations, coalition government and more."

This, in essence, is Mr. Nixon's stand, also well-entrenched, and requires that the war must go on until Hanoi agrees to conditions that our President knows full well will be unacceptable. They certainly would be unacceptable to us if the conditions were reversed.

So, peace and perhaps America's survival depend then rather heavily on changing our leadership and our outlook, because obviously our leadership is not going to change, and I must say it did ruin my whole day when that fellow I thought was my friend said nothing was likely to change in the next Presidential election.

Bob Wood Reports

Iwas amazed the other day to learn that our American pharmaceutical firms produce 3 bilion doses of amphetamines annually. Some of these are commonly known as bennies or pep pills. This figure is three times larger than that which is warranted or needed for legitimate medical use in the United State according to testimony provided to a federal investigation committee.

I can't help but wonder what real good it's going to do us to continue to clamp down on the small time pusher who is attempting to pedal pills to our teenagers and others, when the producers are allowed to produce as many as they wish. We apparently have no laws to allow the Attorney General to set production and export quotas of dangerous drugs.

Some authorities believe that up to 50 percent of these various types of drugs that are produced eventually find their way into the black market. A large portion of the total production is exported to foreign countries where drug control is sometimes lax or non-existent, but federal narcotic agents have reported that a good percentage of these drugs destined for and delivered in Mexico, somehow find their way back across the border into Southern California. I don't doubt that many of them work their way right back here to Monterey County.

Last year California Legislators tried to pass laws to monitor the flow of legal drug shipments in order to prevent diversion. This year we have a bill before us that requires triplicate prescription provisions in an attempt to govern the sale of legitimate drugs sold by prescription.

However, let's face it, the problem is essentially a national one. For what good is it going to do us to try to curtail drugs if neighboring states do not have the same laws. I think we all realize it's national problem requiring federal control.

Before Congress is a bill that would give the U.S. Attorney General the power to set production and export quotas of all dangerous drugs produced in the United States by pharmaceutical firms. I urge you to write your Congressman and Senators in support of this vital measure.

Why dont' you go to your desk right now and send a post card or short note to Congressman Burt L. Talcott, 1524 Longworth Building, Washington, D.C. 20515 or Senators Alan Cranston, 2102 Senate Office Building and John Tunney, 6237 Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20510.

The people of Hunza, who are said to be in their prime at the age of 60, are extremely heavy smokers, getting strong tobacco from Red China.

Your Social Security

Q.: I am over 65 and have signed up for social security but I am still working. Does my employer have the right to take social security taxes out of my wages since I am past the age of retirement?

A.: Your employer is required to deduct social security tax from your wages even though you are over 65 and have signed up for social security. If you continue to work at a higher rate of pay, it may increase your benefits when you do retire.

Q.: I am 62, but my husband is only 59. I have been a homemaker all of my married life and have never worked under social security. Can I collect monthly social security retirement benefits now?

A.: No. Since you have no work credit of your own under social security, your husband must be entitled to social security benefits before you can collect monthly cash benefits. He will become eligible for reduced retirement benefits at 62 or full benefits at 65.

Q.: My unmarried 27-year-old brother was killed in a car accident a short time ago. My mother, who is 64, kept house for him and received all her support from him. Can she collect social security survivors benefits based on my brother's work?

A.: She can if your brother worked long enough in employment covered by social security. If he worked for at least a year and a half within the three years before his death, your mother may be eligible for survivors benefits. The people at any social security office will be glad to help your mother determine her eligibility.

Q.: My uncle is 86 years old. Lately he can't remember whether or not he got his monthly social security check. Usually he misplaces it. Is it possible for me to receive his social security check for him?

A.: Yes. If your uncle cannot manage his own money, the Social Security Administration can select someone to receive the check for him.

Local Girl Is Graduate Of Job Corps

Miss Vita Torrente, 18, was among the Sixth Anniversary graduates at recent ceremonies at the Los Angeles Job Corps Training Center for Women in Los Angeles, California.

Miss Torrente, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pietro Torrente, 585 Harcourt Avenue, Seaside, was graduated as a Nursing Assistant attending the Los Angeles Job Corps Center for Women for eight months.

"The Job Corps program has proved itself a powerful social force. History has been made and a mural - not cast in stone, but in human lives has been created," said Miss Mary E. Doolittle, Center Director.

The Sixth Anniversary of the Los Angeles Job Corps Center represents the fulfillment "of the American dream of opportunity" for the many young women who have participated in the program, said Miss Doolittle.

In its six-year history, the Los Angeles Center, which offers a voluntary residential training program funded by the Congress of the United States, has graduated some 1,000 young women. Four out of every five of those graduates are in verified job placements, according to Miss Doolittle.

The Corpswomen living at the Center receive training in basic education, vocational instruction and citizenship responsibilities.

Emphasis is placed upon the development of the total woman, said Miss Doolittle.

A variety of vocational skills are available to Corpswomen leading to office, industrial or professional career oportunities including dental and medical assistants, licensed vocational nurse, clerk typist, clerk stenographer, PBX operator, keypounch operator, data processing, physical therapy or inhalation therapy aides, barbers, cosmetology and other vocations.

The Los Angeles Job Corps Center has won recognition for its low drop-out and low cost-per-Corpswoman record. It has also been selected to operate an experimental non-residential training program.

In its first year of operation, a total of 52 young women were graduated from the pilot non-resident project. Presently, the non-resident program has a capacity for 130 girls.

Located in the heart of downtown Los Angeles, the Center serves girls from throughout the United States and has a capacity for 320 young women.

The Los Angeles Job Corps Center for Women is operated by the YWCA under the auspices of the Department of Labor.

INCREASING

National surveys show that labor costs charged by garages for auto repairs now average over $8 an hour and parts costs have risen one-third in the past four years.

At ROTC Camp

Cadet Richard Inokuchi, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick H. Inokuchi, 935 Toro Court, Seaside, is receiving six weeks practical work in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officers' training Corps advanced summer at Ft. Lewis, Washington.

Inokuchi, who is attending the University of California, Davis, is one of more than 13,000 students attending ROTC summer training at six installations in the United States.

The Army ROTC advanced camp is devoted to the practical application of leadership principles. Field training emphasizes the exercise of command and the making of sound decisions under pressure. These lessons reinforce the essential mission of Army ROTC - to provide the nation with young men who have excellent civilian education and who voluntarily qualify themselves during their student days for commissions in the Army

Army Courses Are Open

The local Army recruiting office announced recently that several Army training courses in the communications field are now open to qualified Army enlistees.

These schools include strategic microwave systems repair, satellite communications ground station equipment repair, fixed station technical control and automatic data processing system repair. Also offered are courses for communications center specialists.

According to Sergeant Jose Garcia, local Army Recruiter, all these schools offer the enlistee an opportunity to learn ground floor techniques of modern communications operations. The Sergeant said that an added feature of the enlistment option allows an enlistee to choose service in Europe if the Army makes the decision on which of the schools he will attend. Or, the enlistee may select his school from some nine choices and leave his assignment to the Army's descretion.

For more information about this and other opportunities, interested persons may contact Sergeant Garcia at 431 Webster Street in Monterey or call him at 372-4742.

Seaside Leads in Recruits

The Seaside area continues to lead the Monterey Peninsula in volunteers for the United States Army.

According to Sergeant Jose Garcia, local Army recruiter, there were fourteen volunteers from the area during June.

Among the enlistees from Seaside were Kenneth L. Mullins, David G. Rannsom, Rudiger J. Hill, Donald B. Rue, Larry A. Fisher, Walter B. Washington, Reed C. Sanger and Larry P. Junsay.

Marina volunteers were Kenneth B. Skipper, Clarence F. Lints and Louis H. Jones.

Fort Ord was represented by Herbert G. Schwab, Ulisese S. Auelua and Robert O. Doyer III.

All the volunteers had the opportunity to choose a specific field or location of their choice prior to enlisting.

Persons interested in enlistment opportunities are invited to call Sgt. Garcia at 372-4742 or stop by the recruiting station at 431 Webster Street in Monterey.

Completes Course

Army Private Henry E. Mamon, whose mother, Mrs. Roberta E. Mamon, lives in Seaside, recently completed a 12-week Communications Center Specialist Course at the U. S. Army Southastern Signal School, Ft. Gordon, Georgia.

He learned to operate and maintain a communications center and acquired a working knowledge of various kinds of communications, equipment and system.

Plans

Marvin Gaye doesn's believe in becoming stagnant. He added a new rhythm to his music with his current million plush chart buster, "What's Going On" which is currently in the number one position on the nation's music trade charts.

Marvin is a triple threat in the music industry as an artist, producer and writer of hit songs.

"Acting is my next medium. I want to try and see if I can do it. I've been in movies for television, but I've never had the change to really do any acting," he says.

Marvin's most recent screen credit was in Universal's "Corporal Crockett" where he played a soldier in the movie made for television.

"I've never had the chance to try acting and see if I have any real ability. I like dramatic things. I would prefer a drama to a comedy, and I like westerns very much--dramatic westerns", he said.

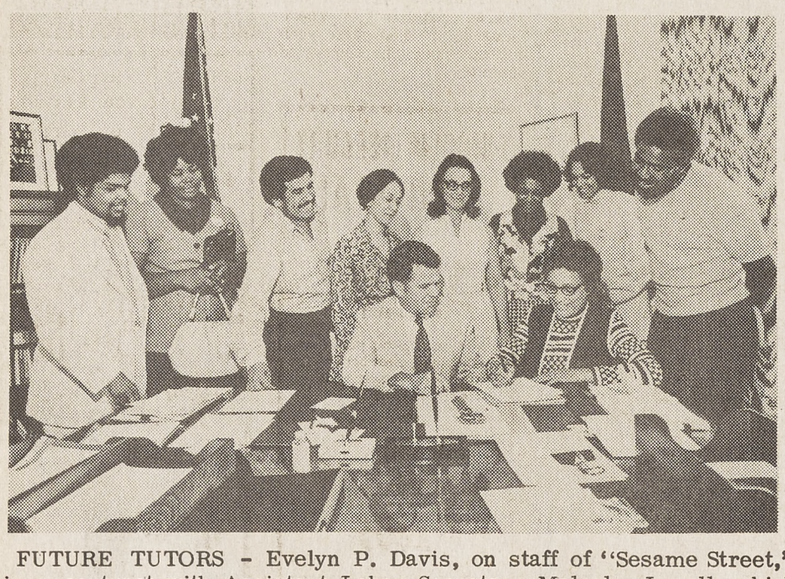
"I like dramatic heavy roles, the ones such as Poitier sometimes plays. I believe in those kind of roles. In fact, that is the direction in which I'm aiming", he explained.

Artist Says 'Kids Alike'

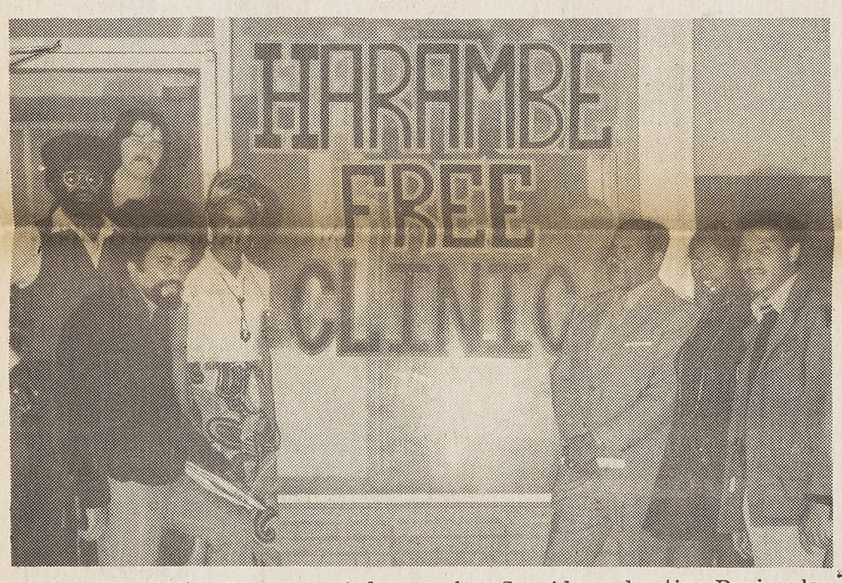
The ideas, stories and legends used by artist David Paladin are part of his Indian heritage--part of the life he himself knew as a boy on the reservation. Because of that life he has developed an unique concern and compassion for other children throughout the world.

He was born to a Navajo mother and a white father. His Indian name is Chetlahe, which means "little turtle" in Navajo. He has said of himself, "I am a member of one ethnic group trying to convey to others some of the Indian ideas that are true and sacred." One of the ideas Paladin considers most true and sacred is a deep obligation to his fellow man.

"As an artist," he explained "I feel that I have been able to extend myself beyond the boundaries of our society. It's one way I can reach out to help other children of the world. children very much like our Navajo children. Children all over the world are so much alike.



FUTURE TUTORS - Evelyn P. Davis, on staff of "Sesame Street," signs contract with Assistant Labor Secretary Malcolm Lovell, which will enable teenagers in 14 metropolitan areas to use program to teach inner-city preschoolers this summer. Eight instructors who will tutor teenagers beam approval of new project.



OPEN SOON - Within next few weeks, Seaside and entire Peninsula area will have free medical clinic for -- Harambe Free Clinic -- for those who otherwise cannot afford medical care. Making announcement recently were (from left) Lenzu Donaldson, prime minister of Harambe; Don Hubbard, attorney; Abad Karim Al-Latif (foreground), Harambe chairman; Betty Nichols, secretary of labor and finance; Steve Ross, Seaside city councilman; Dorothy Vaughn and Claude Aimes, vice-chairmen.

Kids Can't Quit School At Sixteen

A state bill that would have allowed youngsters to quit school at age 16 instead of the present age 18 was successfully lobbied against by the NAACP.

The bill would have made continuation school education permissive rather than mandatory and would have permitted 16-year-olds, under certain conditions, to enroll in junior colleges, according to NAACP Sacramento lobbyist Virna M. Canson.

Mrs. Canson argued that a large number of minority group students would have been "pushed out of school." She labeled the bill a "legalized cop out."

Joining the NAACP in the fight to kill the bill were the Parent-Teachers Association, California Association of School Boards and School Administrators, State Department of Education, California Teachers' Association and the Association of Continuation Educators.

Strong Foe Of Abortion Indicts Taking Of Life

He had the last word before leaving. It was a strong indictment of abortion, a theme he had sounded ofter before.

"We are witnessing the denigration of human life. After the fetus, will it next be the aged, the senile, the cripple, those who cannot be rehabilitated?

"The movement is barely perceptible, but it's there--from the voluntary to the mandatory taking of life."

The remarks were those of the Reverend Charles Carroll, an Episcopalian priest.

Until June 29 he was Protestant chaplain at the University of California Medical Center.

He also was the founder and guiding spirit of the Center for the Study of Human Values in the Health Sciences.

There, in a house just off the UC campus on Parnassus Heights, Father Carroll offered medical professionals an opportunity to discuss, argue, and weigh a whole set of increasingly complex issues touching on the life spark in their hands.

At the University of San Francisco last month, in a panel on "Medical Morality," Father Carroll went over familiar ground: sterilization, organ transplants, negative and positive euthanasia, cloning, abortion.

"The question before the house," he said, "is, what is the definition of a human person? There is none. You can't find one in the legal system of any contry. And so what we're engaged in is the gradation of humanity and each person's claim to humanity: the fetus, the paraplegic, the incurably ill, the retarded, and others.

"That's the drift I want you to be conscious of. The Nazis defended genocide, claiming it was necessary to rid themselves of a cancer on the body politic. The population explosionists now urge policies that would, in some areas, eliminate whole groups, even races."

To a question from the audience about "an individual's right to choose," Father Carrol replied: "When you claim a right today, the state may claim that right of you tomorrow."

The question continued after the panel. The tall priest lit his pipe and recalled his experiences in military government in Europe, the tragic deportation of displaced persons who had fled Communist control.

He reiterated his belief in the dignity of human life, said his stand on abortion led him logically to oppose wat and capital punishment as well.

"When," he asked, "is man going to realize that every power in his hands can be used for good or evil? Society must be engaged in discussion of how to use these powers. It has embraced many things without investigating what they may lead to."

Father Carroll shook hands and left, saying he would travel awhile, perhaps find another chaplaincy," where I can continue to raise such questions and help others find answets."

Wilkins On Power

Roy Wilkins, who is executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), said young Blacks do not have the slightest idea of what it takes to develop black economic power or black identity and that they were making a "sort of semantic game" out of those terms.

Speaking at the annual luncheon meeting of the board of governors of the National Conference of Christians and Jews at the St. Moritz Hotel in New York City, Wiklins said that some sections of young Blacks are confused by the term black power.

Others are realizing the significance of political power through election of Blacks to high legislative bodies, he said.

Wilkins noted that 1,200 Blacks had been elected to public office, including 11 members of the House of Representatives and one United States Senator.

He said those officials represent a base of political power that, when unified, "can important ingredient in the minority or the majority."

Such power, he said, could augment the base of black militants. He appeald to young Black to pool their resources, including finances, to establish "an economice power that is black in its conception."

The NAACP leader said that the war in Vietnam had aggravated the "pervasiveness of prejudice." He warned that black discontent "is likely to grow following the normal consequences of ending the war because of possible discrimination and black unemployment."

Wilkins said: "Some black extremists have gone so far as to label this a racist war, racist being their term applied to anything they don't like."

The civil rights leader said that all the say in the future will not be true, but "much of what they say will be justified."

He said he had an old-fashioned American illusion that "in a democracy, the concerned people can hold up to this ideal if they don't give up, if they display ingenuity. They can make it the kind of nation we dreamed up in 1776."

Actor Is Weekend Aviator

During the week, actor Lloyd Haynes keeps his feet firmly planted on the ground as an actor. But on weekends, his head is in the clouds.

An aviation buff since childhood, Lloyd recently received his pilot's license -- the hard way.

"I made it through ground school the first time but decided I wanted to know every bit of the material covered thoroughly, so I repeated the entire course," he said recently.

Recalling that as a child he had hitchhiked to a flying field in his native South Bend, Indiana, to plane-watch and mingle with aviators, Haynes said, "I can't remember when I didn't want to be a pilot, but I couldn't afford flying lessons before. They are my main luxury now."

SEASIDE COUNTY SANITATION DISTRICT
ORDINANCE NO. 7

AMENDING ARTICLE 2, SECTION 22, SUBSECTION (h) OF ORDINANCE NO. 1

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE SEASIDE COUNTY SANITATION DISTRICT DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Subsection (h) of Section 22, of Article 2, of Ordinance No. 1 of the Seaside County Sanitation District is amended to read as follows:

(h) VENTS AND TRAPS:

In all new installations to buildings, and in all existing installations to buildings where the outlet of a trap for a plumbing fixture is installed or located at an elevation which is less than two feet above the rim of the nearest manhole uphill from the point of connection of the house sewer to the lateral sewer, approved types of trap, vent, and cleanout shall be installed in the house sewer at a point as close as possible to the building being served. The installation shall consist of an approved cast iron fresh air inlet "P" trap and a Wye branch or combination fitting installed in sequence in the line of flow from the building. The vent from this fresh air inlet shall be of cast iron and shall be piped to the ground surface and capped with a cast iron vent cap. This vent cap shall be rigidly fastened in place by means of set screws and shall provide 1/2" minimum clearance between the cap and end of the riser pipe. Provisions shall be made by elevation above ground or by other means for preventing the obstruction of the vent opening or the flow of water therein. Traps shall be cast iron and of a type approved by the inspector. The cleanout shall be placed as close to the trap as is practical and shall be piped to within one foot of the ground surface with cast iron pipe and closed with an approved cleanout plug. In lieu of the above, an aluminim back-water overflow device with 4" plastic 2-way cleanout or 4" cast iron 2-way cleanout may be installed. Every existing installation which includes a plumbing fixture trap outlet which is less than two feet above the rim of the nearest manhole uphill from the point of connection of the house sewer to the lateral sewer is hereby declared to be dangerous, insanitary, and a menace to life, health and property. Whenever it shall come to the attention of the inspector that such an installation exists, he is hereby authorized and empowered to order and require that such plumbing outlet be immediately plugged or capped, or that the equipment described in the preceding paragraphs of this section be installed immediately.

In no case shall a back-water valve be used in lieu of the vent and trap specified above without the express written permission of the inspector. A cleanout shall be installed in the sewer immediately after any such back-water valve permitted by the inspector. Back-water valves required by this Section shall be located where they will be readily and easily accessible for inspection and repair at all times, and unless continuously exposed, shall be enclosed in a water-tight masonry pit fitted with an adequately sized removable cover.

All ordinances or resolutions or parts of ordinances or resolutions in conflict herewith are hereby repealed insofar as they conflict with this ordinance.

This ordinance shall be published once after its passage in the Seaside POST News-Sentinel and shall be in force and take effect thirty (30) days from and after its passage and approval.

INTRODUCED this 19th day of May, 1971.

San Francisco	13.4	1,800	90	5.0

The percentages of Blacks, on police forces of the nation's major cities ranges from 1.9 in Dallas to 35.9 in Washington, D.C.

Fresno has five blacks on a force budgeted for but short of 285 men; San Francisco has 90 blacks on a force of 1,800 and Los Angeles 350 on a force of 6,705.

Nowhere does the percentage on a police force come close to the percentage of Blacks living in that city.

These findings are brought out in a table of figures accompanying an article on "The Dilemma of the Black Policemen" in the May issue of Ebony Magazine.

Oakland has 34 blacks on a force of 713 for a percentage of 4.7 whereas 34.5 percent of that city's population is Black, according to the magazines figures.

A Sacramento Urban League proposal to interest and recruit minority group persons in police work is being considered by the Criminal Justice Advisory Board for financing by the Sacramento Regional Area Planning Council.

Mrs. Delores E. Curvin, the Urban Leagues community resources and economic development director, appeared recently before the area planning council to discuss the amendment.

According to the Supreme Court, no other government action is necessary once an amendment has been ratified by 38 states.

Commenting on the ratification, John W. Gardner, chairman of Common Cause, a citizens' action group, said that "the swift ratification of this amendment shows what citizen action can do."

Political parties are expected to stage massive registration drives to enlist the newly enfranchised voters in their ranks.

Registration will also entitle the new voters to sign those petitions which are limited to registered voters.

Eight Fellowships Go To Blacks With Interest In Journalism As A Career

Fellowships for 15 weeks of study at the Washington Journalism Center have been awarded to eight blacks interested in journalism as a career, Julius Duscha, director of the Center, has announced.

The fellowships are financed by a Ford Foundation grant to the center to encourage members of minority groups to pursue careers in journalism.

Each Fellow receives a $2,500 stipend to pay for his or her living expenses while in Washington, D.C. They range in age from 21 to 24.

The Fellows participate in daily seminars with top federal government officials, members of Congress, and leading members of the Washington press corps. Internships with Washington news organizations provide them with work experience.

In this year's program will be eight other journalists from throughout the country, each with several years experience as a reporter.

Two Asian Fellows, whose fellowships are financed by the Asia Foundation through a special arrangement with the center, will also participate.

The center's program is designed to provide inexperienced journalists with a greater understanding of public affairs and the role of journalism in national and international affairs.

The fall fellowships begin September 7 and continue through December 16. The program is directed by Duscha and Clarence H. Hunter, associate director.

Joseph T. Davidson, 22, of Detroit, a June graduate from Oakland University in Rochester, Michigan, with a degree in secondary education. He has worked as a reporter-trainee for the Detroit News.

Kodak Gives Grants, Jobs

Eastman Kodak Company has established a special grant program for the development of science and engineering cooperative education at three predominantly Negro colleges--Hampton Institute, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University and Tuskegee Institute.

Under the auspices of Kodak's educational adi program, the company will award the grants in the amount of $15,000 yearly to each school for a period not to exceed four years.

In addition, Kodak will provide working positions each year during this period for up to six students from each school who are enrolled in the cooperative science and engineering education programs.

CHANGED DIRECTIONS

Las Vegas, Nevada was originally a Mormon settlement.

Jemmin Is Involved

While he is off to school obtaining his master's degree and teaching credentials, Bill Cosby's production company, Jemmin, Inc., will be thoroughly involoved in a variety of projects, including the release of a motion picture and a new album.

Jemmin has completed production and is preparing the release of its first motion picture, "Man and Boy," a western-drama starring Cosby and shot on location in Scottsdale, Arizona.

Cosby, based on his recent television special for the NBC "Children's Theatre," and his personal involvement and concern with the use and effects of drugs on young people, has produced an upcoming album for UNI Records pointing out those dangers in language children will understand.

Projected programs for Jemmin include preparation of a television pilot and acquisition of another motion picture property, both without Cosby serving as an actor.

He Quit

The first black police chief in Kansas City, Kansas, has resigned, charging he was stripped of his power to run the department.

Boston Daniels said that after Mayor Richard F. Walsh was elected in April, he "was called to his office and asked to remain as chief of police -- not as a messenger boy, but as chief of police."

Daniels said that then he began to learn about changes after they had been made.

Daniels served as chief for 11 months after his appointment by former mayor Joseph H. McDowell.

Daniels had several job offers pending "on the state level," he said.

Named to replace Daniels as acting chief was Lieutenant John H. Donnelly, a 21-year veteran with the department.

Solon Says Credibility Gap Great

That chronic malady, the Credibility Gap, has cropped up again, according to Representative Paul N. McCloskey (R, California) who has accused the Nixon Administration of lying to the American people and concealing information from them.

McCloskey plans to challenge President Nixon in next year's Presidential election in at least four primary elections.

"If there is one thing about this Administration that drives me up the wall, it's their willingness to lie and conceal information," McCloskey told a group of reporters at a breakfast in Washington, D.C.

As examples of what he regarded as deception and concealment, the ex-Marine whose district is on the San Francisco Peninsula cited the refusal of the Defense Department to supply him with figures on the number of amputees among wounded American soldiers in Vietnam and the Administration's failure to make public some critical comment from federal agencies on supersonic transport.

He said he was most angry, however, about an incident during his recent trip to Laos and South Vietnam.

He said he had asked Monteagle Stearnes, deputy chief of mission in the United States Embassy in Laos, whether any study had been made of reasons why refugees had fled their villages. He was told no study had been made.

The next day, McCloskey said, he discovered that such a study had been made. He went back to Stearnes and de-

A Stanford Happening

"One More Time" is the way the old jazz axiom goes.

And one more time is exactly what will be happening this summer as the joyful sounds of the Preservation Hall Jazz Band of New Orleans return for the fifth season at Stanford.

Long favorites of the Bay Area summer audiences, this happy aggregation from New Orleans has played to virtually sold-out houses every summer at Stanford since 1967.

This year's stand will be for five nights in Dinkelspiel Auditorium, July 13 through 17. Each performance will begin at 8 p.m., with an added "late-show" at 10:30 p.m. Friday, July 16.

Led by Billie (piano) and DeDe (cornet) Pierce, the band features Willie Humphrey, now recognized as the greatest living exponent of New Orleans Jazz clarinet; "Big Jim" Robinson, whose strong, gutsy trombone playing belies his 79 years of age; Josiah "Cie" Frazier, who at 66 is one of the youngsters of the band, with a steady rhythmical drum beat; and Allan Jaffe, founder of Preservation Hall in New Orleans, sho occasionally adds some notes on the tuba.

"We are delighted to have the band back this summer," says Tom Bacchetti, Stanford's director of public events. "We have heard that the band will be cutting back on their touring in the future, so this may be their last Stanford appearance.

This season the Preservation Hall Jazz Band will be playing at every major music festival in America including the Ravinnia Festival in Chicago and the Blossom Festival near Cleveland.

Tickets for the Preservation Hall Jazz Band's Stanford performances will go on box office sale Monday, June 7, at Tresidder ticket office and all Bay Area Ticketron agencies. Mail order received before June 5 will be filled in advance of general sale.

Tickets for the Band's performances are $3.50 each with the student price set at $2.75.

To order by mail please send check in full payment (made out to Tresidder Ticket Office) and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Mail order to: Stanford Public Events, Box 3006, Stanford, CA 94305.

Basie Is Set

The Count Basie Orchestra, one of the most durable and swinging of the big bands, has been added to the lineup for the Third Annual Concord Summer Festival, set this year for the evenings of August 6, 7, 8 and 13, 14, and 15.

Count Basie and his orchestra will perform on the festival's opening night along with Ella Fitzgerald and the Tommy Flanagan Trio.

The Concord Summer Festival is held in a grassy outdoor bowl in Concord Boulevard Park.

Carl Jefferson, president of the Concord Summer Festival Association and the event's general manager, said a
